

Range Rules

1. All firearms must be cased to enter the store and range
2. All firearms are to remain in the shooters stall and pointed down range with chambers open when firearm is not in use. Fred's has provided storage for participants with multiple firearms.
3. The stall is to be uncluttered.
4. No more than two participants per stall. Fred's has provided a viewing area in which friends/relatives can observe.
5. No one under the age of 21 unless accompanied by an adult while firing a handgun. No one under 18 while firing a long gun (Hang your targets appropriately! A child cannot shoot at a target hung at adult height and vise-versa)
6. Rounds into the ceiling, floor and walls will not be tolerated. (Improper target height. Even though you are hitting the bull's-eye at close range, as the projectile continues down range it may be high/low. PAY ATTENTION)
7. Dress code:
 - No high heels
 - No low cut blouses
 - T-shirts are permitted (collared shirts must be buttoned up)
 - No lose or baggy clothing
8. Have to watch NSSF Range Etiquette video and receive certificate. Video is available at www.fredssports.com. Viewing can be completed at home or on premise.
9. Crossing of the firing line is not permitted.
10. Participant's firearms and gear are subject to inspection.
11. Participants must use Fred's ammo and must be purchased the day activity takes place. Fred's is well stocked in ammo, however there may be an occasion when stock is not available (i.e., old wildcat, or odd ball caliber). An exception is possible in these cases and will be made at the discretion of management.
12. Eye and ear protection is to be worn at all times. These products will be made available on site. Use of your personal eye and ear protection is allowed and subject to inspection.

Our goal is to provide a clean, safe, and enjoyable environment and Fred's has spared no expense, from the 26 ton AC/heat unit, our extensive sound suppression, the bank of 29 HEPA filters and the latest equipment. The rest is left up to you, the shooter.

Anyone who compromises this will be asked to leave. Monthly/Annual members will have their fees prorated and refunded.
